ABOUT THE BLOOMINGTON ENTERTAINMENT AND ARTS DISTRICT (BEAD)

BEAD seeks to bring the business and creative sectors together to advance commerce and culture, build community and spur economic development. BEAD is a geographically defined, mixed-use cultural district in downtown Bloomington which capitalizes on local and regional assets that are specific to the cultural, economic and social issues of Bloomington. BEAD emphasizes the high concentration of creative assets and related activities to strengthen and enhance the overall economic development of the community and provides a connective link to a variety of incentives, programs and grants to benefit its major stakeholder groups and users: the community, visitors, the creative, cultural and entertainment sectors and small business. ELIGIBILITY

The BUEA and BEAD encourage citizens, artists, teams of artists, local businesses, and non-profit organizations (including neighborhood groups) to apply for project grants to support arts activities that enrich the cultural lives of Bloomington Urban Enterprise Zone residents and businesses and/or bring increased economic investment to the Zone.

Project support will do one or more of the following for residents and businesses within the Urban Enterprise Zone: facilitate involvement in arts and cultural activities; provide an opportunity to participate in the creative process; advance the quality and availability of the arts in the Zone; bring additional economic investment to the Zone or celebrate or enhance the identity of the Zone. Exhibits, concerts, performances, festivals, art markets, art space development and public art (including murals) are all examples of the types of projects eligible for funding through the BUEA and BEAD Zone Arts Grant program.

Projects which propose to take place in the public right-of-way, in City parks or would require direction action by the City in any way should have either sought approval in advance of application or should demonstrate an understanding of the process, scheduling and resources required for gaining such approval as part of the application process. The awarding of a BUEA Zone Arts Grant does not supersede any other applicable City approvals or regulations. Contact Jason Carnes at carnesj@bloomington.in.gov with specific questions.

Projects for which the Zone Arts Grant is the sole source of funding are not eligible; applicants must secure matching funding sources. Any prior funding by the BUEA, BEAD or the City of Bloomington does not guarantee future funding through this granting program. Applicants should read carefully the Legal Assurances on the last page of the application. In the event that a grant is awarded, these assurances become part of the legally binding contract between the applicant and the City of Bloomington. The award of these grants is made at the sole discretion of the BUEA Board, and its decision is final. Any major changes from the original application (i.e. scope, budget or schedule) require immediate notification and must be submitted in writing and approved before continuing the project.
